For Carolly

G C G
 She sits alone by candle-light and sings a wistful song

 Of freedom from a world where she will never quite belong

 She takes a square of paper and she folds it as she sings;

 A tiny dragon lifts its head and spreads its paper wings.

She recalls the pretty legend that they told in days gone by
 If you fold a thousand paper cranes then you may never die.
 A tiny dragon perches on a chip of crystal stone;
 Would a thousand paper dragons have a magic of their own?

She folds them through the autumn rains and silent winter snow:
 A thousand squares of paper by the candle's quiet glow.
 She sings her songs of dragon-flight; the night is soft and deep;
 And paper dragons watch her bed to guard her in her sleep.

At last upon a rose-red dawn the day breaks clear and warm;
 A thousand tiny dragons whirl around her like a storm.
 She watches them in wonderment 'til like the song she sings,
 She rises with them free to fly away on paper wings.

(x) — just play the note x, no chord.

This was commissioned by Cathy Cook and Carolly Hawksdottir, inspired by Fred Small's song "Cranes Over Hiroshima" and Carolly's origami dragons.
